GOLD IN THE TREASURY

Not Causing Any Anxiety to the Head of the Bond Syndicate.

Mr. Pierrpont Morgan Says There Is No Cause For Any Uneasiness Over the Matter-Rumor That Bonds Held by Foreigners Are to Be Thrown on the Market-Reserve Still Intact.

BAR HARBOR, Me., Aug. 14.-The export of $2,500,000 of gold in the last two days and the loss of more than $7,000 to All were more or less injured. It is the treasury reserve since Aug. 1 are feared Errick Yager and Elsie Cupp not apparently causing any anxiety to the head of the bond syndicate, Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan, who is cruising on his yacht. Mr. Morgan was asked yesterday whether it is true that the gold exports were caused in part by the return of bonds which the syndicate sold in Europe last spring.

"No," he said emphatically, "it is "Do you think that any considerable amount of the bonds will come back

"It is reported in New York that $10,-000,000 are likely to be resold in our market," was also asked.

"That's a pure guess. How can they know. The bonds are widely distributed in Europe. The holders won't get together. It is not likely that any number of investors will send their bonds back under existing money con-

RESERVE STILL THERE.

Bond Syndicate Acting According to the Spirit of Its Contract.

Washington, Aug. 14.-A telegram was received at the treasury department yesterday from Assistant United States Treasurer Jordan at New York stating that $900,000 in gold had been withdrawn for export to Europe. This was followed in a few minutes by another stating that the Morgan syndicate had deposited gold in exchange for legal tenders to the amount of $1,346,000, which leaves the gold reserve at the close of the day's business $101,833,715. The syndicate's action is taken here as conclusive evidence that it proposes to keep the reserve above the $100,000,000 poin,t according to the spirit of its contract with the government.

HEAVY HAILSTONES.

Much Damage Done by a Minnesota Tornado and Hailstorm.

OWATONNA, Minn., Aug. 14.-A tornado swept over Steele county yesterservation. The remaining 24 passengers day afternoon doing immense damage. Hailstones from four to six inches in diameter fell to the depth of four inches, breaking all glass fronts in business places, all the windows in dwellings, churches and the city hall. Smaller buildings were unroofed and overturned. Horses standing in the streets were knocked senseless. The corn crop in that region is totally destroyed. Loaded With Slugs.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 14.-At the Brookwood mines Deputy Sheriff Nelson went to serve a warrant for assault to murder on William McKay, a young miner. McKay reached for his pistol and Nelson fired, filling McKay with slugs. McKay died in a few hours. It seems that McKay's mother, who is a widow, had been keeping company with a man who was objectionable to McKay.

Not an Ordinary Artist.

New Orleans, Aug. 14.—The grand jury after a lengthy investigation yesterday presented nine indictments against Maurice J. Hart, four for perjury, one for subornation of perjury an four for having obtained money from the Traction company by false representation, the amounts ranging from $5,000 to $100,000. Bail was fixed at $3,000 on each indictment.

High Priced Running Horses.

SARATOGA, Aug. 14.—August Belmont has paid $25,000 for Henry of Navarre and $7,500 for Dorien. He does not intend, he says, to race them in England. He proposes to confine his racing operations to America, hoping to elevate the standard of the turf here. Late yesterday afternoon he gave a private exhibi-tion of his stable at the track.

Trusts Not Popular.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—The Newspaper Publishers' association has opened correspondence with newspaper publishers throughout the United States with a view to a meeting at some central city to consider questions affecting the man-nfacturere of print paper, in consequence of the recently organized paper manufacturers' trust.

SILVER CLIFF, Colo., Aug. 14.—A big strike of tin ore near the Willetts gold camp is reported. Tests show that it runs 26 per cent tin.

CUBANS IN ARMS.

Claim Is Made That Spaniards Are Deserting to the Insurgents.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.-General Quesada, secretary of the revolutionary party in the United States, says of the progress of the revolution:

"Information received from Camaguey tells of the success of General Go. PLAYMATES TAUNTED HIM. mez and of daily reinforcements to his ranks. The city is in a panic, and the Spanish troops are afraid to venture beyond its limits.

'Sickness is carrying off many of the Spaniards. In the hospital at Puerto Principe there are over 400 Spanish soldiers, and the deaths average 12 per day. From the sugar plantation of El Lugerano information is had that 50 Spaniards, natives of Gallacia, recently joined the insurgents, showing that even the Spaniards are in sympathy with the revolutionists.

'From Madrid the information comes that the reserves of 1891 are so disgusted at being ordered to Cuba that the government is afraid of a mutiny. To prevent this, they have been disarmed, and their arms and ammunition will be shipped on a transport in cases, to be delivered to them upon landing in Cuba. The reserves, however, declare that they will join the revolutionary forces when they are disembarked in Cuba."

Reliograph Telegraph.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Aug. 14.—Captain Canute, a well known coast pilot who has just returned from a trip through the southern part of Florida, states that Cubans have under consideration a plan to establish communication with the insurgents in Cuba by means of the heliograph or sun writing

MAY CONTAIN A PIRATE'S TREASURE.

Remarkable Dream of a New Jersey Man May Have Rich Resuits.

BURLINGTON, Aug. 14.—A remarkable dream, which haunted Harry Fasick three consecutive nights he thinks may lead to an important discovery. Ten vears ago an old woman, who purported to be a fortune teller, told Fasick that a buried treasure awaited him, and all that was needed to secure it was a good | fear he will die. spade and a brave heart. The matter was almost forgotten by Fasick until a few weeks ago, when he dreamed of a little white house and a barn along the creek, and on a line with the building and the creek he saw a clump of bushes surrounding a small mound, which was covered with a stone slab four feet wide and six feet long. On the slab, directly in the center, was engraved a mule shoe. He dreamed the same thing on the next night, and again on the third. dream was almost forgotten. He went gunning along the creek yesterday, when, to his astonishment, he saw the little white house and barn, and in the distance was the clump of bushes. Hastening to it, he was amazed to see the stone slab with the mule shoe engraved. It was the same size as the slab of his dream, and all the details were perfect. The stone was too deeply embedded in the earth for Fasick to move single handed. He believes that there is a mystery beneath the slab, and with the help of others he will investigate it. Fasick is in the insurance business, and is an influential member of the First Baptist church.

START OFF WELL.

Fine Weather on the Opening Day of the Driving Club's Races.

Indianapolis, Aug. 14. — Yesterday was the opening day of the Indianapolis Driving club's races. The weather was a trifle hot, but otherwise perfect. The track was fine, and with a slight shower would be very fast. The 2:19 trot was the first race on the card, and the favorite, Jimmie Hague, had to be satisfied with second place, Rensselaer Wilkes cutting several secends off his record and winning out in straight heats, with Lee Simmons third; time 2:1234, 2:1234, 2:1316. In the third race, the 2:18 pace, Sir Edwin Arnold took the last three heats, Prairie Lillie (winner of the first heat) second, Pat Murphy third; time 2:14½, 2:10½, 2:13¾, 2:17. Don L lead depot were broken into and about $150 all the way around in the first heat of the 2:22 trot, and was pulled up on the stretch to save the distance of several of the other horses, but the next three heats were taken by Pat L (the favorite), Norvardine taking third money: time 2:16½, 2:15¾, 2:14½, 2:15¾. Thursday's programme includes the 2:40 trot, purse $1,000; the 2:12 pace, purse $1,500, and the 2:30 trot, purse $1,000. The second race, it is expected, will call for some very fast work to win, as the field is large and several of the pominees have made the mile in less than 2:09.

Kansas Republicans and Silver.

TOPEKA, Aug. 14.—The Kansas Republicans will not hold a convention this year, as had been projected, to take action on the silver question. This decision was reached last night at a meeting of the state central committee, which voted solidly against such a gath-

GLASS MANUFACTURES.

Representatives In Session Trying to Form a Permanent Organization. Indianapolis, Aug. 14.—Twenty representatives of the glass manufacturers in Indiana met at the Bates House vesterday afternoon to consider plans for strengthening and making permanent the agency which was recently established with headquarters at Muncie. For some time, owing to the large number of factories springing up in the gas district, there has been a "go as you please" policy in force. The result was, the manufacturers say, that none of them were able to make money. An attempt will be made to secure a better under-standing among the manufacturers and try and control the output and put the business on a better foundation. Among the delegates present the sentiment was very pronounced for a permanent or-

Struck by the Fast Train.

FRANKFORT, Aug. 14.-Jesse Thatcher, a prominent and influential farmer of this county, met a horrible death yesterday. Just as the fast train on the Clover Leaf road was passing the station at Avery, he attempted to run across the track in front of it, but was struck and hurled several yards, dashing his brains out against the rear end of a spring wagon standing in the road.

CAUSE OF THE COLLAPSE.

Discovery of an Old Well Immediately Under the Central Pillar.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.-The cause of the collapse of the Ireland building, in which 15 lives were lost, came to light yesterday when the workmen engaged in clearing away the debris in the cellar uncovered an oldfashioned well under the foundation. It was situated directly under the central pillar of the structure, the undermining of which precipitated the disaster. The well was only 18 inches below the concrete base on which the pillar rested. It was of the old-fashioned sort, six feet deep by eight feet in diameter, lined with rough stones and there was no water in it.

COMMON COUNCIL

Arlington Street Discussed. The Grade Four Feet too Low.

Chairman Perkins of the street committee reported that there was night. He examined Jackson place on College avenue east of Jerome Allen's residence and another place on north Bloomington street between G. Williamson's and D. Mahoney's that needed repairs and the street commissioner was instructed to repair same.

City Attorney Moore reported in ing broke his neck. regard to the crossing of Bloomington street and the Vandalia railway and stated he had a letter from the railway company in which they said they would build a new crossing at once.

A petition by the property owners of Arlington street between old and was born in St. Louis, in Seminary and Washington streets which place he was last seen on asking that stone gutters be omitted from the street in the proposed improvement, was received shipped home. The identification and ordered placed on file.

The report of the city treasurer for July was referred.

The matter of improvement of Arlington street was discussed and the speeches disclosed the fact that had much to say against Green that street has a passel of complicastle's hotels and their clerks in cations about it that will have to the past all because a photagrapher be cleared away before it can be of that house lost some money here improved. The Age at Which a Pupil Ought to Begin-When to Practice.

The question is often asked, "At what age should a pupil begin a musical training for the piano?" This question is answered as follows by an authority in such matters in the columns of The Ladies' Home Journal:

My answer would be as soon as she can read a little and knows enough of the multiplication table to recite "four Indeed a child need but know that an object may be equally divided into eight parts, that she may understand the relative value of notes, to commence training. The advantages of early training are principally for the physical development. The mental training, although never neglected, should be slow until the mind is well matured. In fact, the Pental training in music should keep pace with the general scholastic progress. Without either a liking for the study of the piano or failing this the exhibition of a marked talent, it is worse than folly to compel a child to take lessons. It is cruelty to the child, a waste of time and money for the parent.

The length of time for practice must depend upon the health and the circumstances surrounding the pupil. As much time as possible should be given to daily practice, and two hours at least should be devoted to that purpose. The best time of day is in the morning, as the mind is freer and the body in a refreshed condition. Practice amounts to very little if the body and mind are tired. Persistence in practice under these conditions-through a mistaken sense of duty-is often injurious to health and certainly fails of any musical accomplishment. To those not in delicate health one hour is not too long for a sitting. In sitting at the piano the stool should be of sufficient height to bring the eibows on a level with the top of the keys, so that the hands may fall naturally into position. The arms should hang from the shoulders in an easy, graceful position and not be hugged to the sides nor yet be held akimbo. A stiffness of the arms is invariably certain of producing unsatisfactory re-

Napoleonic Adornments.

The popularity of Napoleonic insignia for bonnet pins is as great as the popularity of the Napoleonic literature. Not only is the now ever present laurel wreath of the empire used in these miniature pins, wrought in gold, but circlets of green peridots, rubies and other gems, which merely suggest the wreath, are used as the heads of these pins. The Napoleonic bee, a golden honey bee with outspread wings, is often used for the head of the pin and supersedes the turtles, tarantulas, snakes and other ugly reptiles and insects. The eagle, with spread wings, considered especially the Napoleonic bird, is another design.

Also in keeping with the Napoleonic fad of the hour is the pin of twin Mer-They catch together any portion of the bodice, where in other times an ordinary pin would have been used. Sometimes they are coquettishly thrust through a bow on the shoulder, with no especial office but to display their beauty. Sometimes they hold down in proper place some portion of the huge czarina collar. The New York Tribune, which calls attention to the foregoing, says: The old fashioned broach is seldom seen today, even in small size, these minature pins faking its place. When the broach is worn, it is rarely placed in front in prim, orthodox fashion, but on one side, sometimes on the shoulder to catch down a bow. Schoolgirls sometimes wear four leaf clovers, but the broach of the matron must be an artistic affair of jewels, beautiful enough for display if it serves no other use.

Soup Fit For a Queen.

If you have any ambition in the way of sipping a soup of which Queen Victoria is said to be especially fond, follow this recipe: Take half a pound of pearl barley and set in a stewpan with 3 pints of veal stock. Simmer very gently for an hour and a half. Remove one-OLNEY, Ills., Aug. 14.—The firm of third to another soup pot, rub the rest through a sieve, pour it to the whole barley, add a half pint of cream, season with a little salt, stir till very hot and Lemon Honey For Layer Cake.

Into 3 ounces of fresh butter and a cupful of sugar, melted together, stir the beaten yolks of 3 eggs, into which have been mixed the grated peel of a large lemon. Stir over the fire till it begins to thicken and then add the juice of the lemon. Continue stirring till as thick as honey, then pour into jelly tumblers and cover. This recipe from Good Housekeeping makes a delectable filling for larger cake.

A Trifle Mixed.

There was a bet of $10 laid yesterday between two newspaper men as to which could repeat the Lord's prayer the faster, and they gabbled it out at such a rate that the third party declared that the only proper way to divide the wager was for them to repeat it in a phonograph, which would, of course, correctly repeat each word which was uttered.

This seemed to strike both of the parties to the bet as fair, and repairing to a dealer on Madison street who rents phonographs they explained to him the situation. He fell in with the fun of the thing, and ranged the combatants up in front of a couple of recorders, and at a given signal they started off as if the very deuce was after them.

"There!" exclaimed one of the gentlemen. "I told you you weren't in it with me. Why, my father was a clergyman, and I've heard that prayer three times every Sunday since I was knee high to a woodchuck."

"Maybe you have," admitted his opponent, "but just let's see if you re peated it correctly.

Whereupon the machine was started up and ground out very slowly and distinetly the following:

"Father-chart in 'even when in the course of human events it become necessary for one nation solve p'litikle bands which 'nect 'em with another, a decent respect for the opinions of mankind should compel them to declare the causes which impel them to the separation. Now the laws of nature and the laws of God vary in this respect, that those of nature have been so tempered and changed by the art of man that the conditions which exist today and those which existed a thousand years ago are so entirely different that the men of the resent could and justly so should not be expected to withstand the ravages of nature. It would, I say, be impossible for the modern man to live even one short year under the inclemencies of the weather without contracting the most terrible diseases that could be conceived of, forever and ever. Amen."—Chicago Dispatch.

IRRIGATING GARDENS.

Siphoning Water to the Plants-Subirrigation With Clay Tiling.

With garden and fruit crops which represent big money returns irrigation pays, as often the first crop saved in time of extreme drought pays the first cost of the irrigation plant. In many cases it only requires the opening of a few furrows, or the laying of a few pipes, or the use of a few dollars' worth of hose to let the waters into the gardens from a neighboring stream or pond. A writer in the New York Tribune tells how to siphon water into a garden.

This is sometimes practicable and cheaper than digging ditches. The idea will be made plain by a glance at the illustration. Here nature does its own pumping over the high bank. Get the pipe once filled and running a steady stream at its lower end, and as long as the outside end is lower than the end inserted into the water supply, or, rather, than the water level, the water will be sucked up from the supply and be steadily discharged from the lower end into the garden.

A Kansas correspondent who is more than satisfied with his subirrigation plant writes about it as follows in The Irrigation Age:

Last spring I put in 300 feet of tiling, and I found that I could raise anything I planted. Some say it is too expensive. My garden is in town, and if I had to build a reservoir on it the land that I would have to use for that pur-

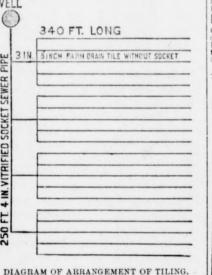

DIAGRAM OF ARRANGEMENT OF TILING. pose would almost buy the tiling. As I pump direct into the tiling, this does away with the reservoirs. I have my tiling so arranged that I can wet any part of my garden whenever I choose. My tiling (3 inch) is laid 16 inches deep, and the moisture comes up to the top when thoroughly soaked. I have a well 43 feet deep. I use a 5 inch pump and a 12 foot mill. I can lift 800 barrels per day, and there is no evaporation, as it pumps direct into the tiling.

Latest In Harvesting Machinery.

The low hung hayrack, which can be used with ordinary wagon wheels, and which swings only 18 inches from the ground, saves much labor in loading, and as the hind axle may be longer than the fore it is said to draw more easily afield and to enable a team to carry a larger load. Unloading is robbed of its terrors by the horse fork and carrier, the Rochester sling taking off the load in three lifts and having an attachment that adapts it to any hav carrier without a change of pulley.

Hayrakes are nearly perfect. The distinctive features of the new Emperor sulky rake are a hand lever which cannot change position when the foot dump is used; a calm action for releasing dog, which lets the teeth fall with little jar, and a doubly trussed frame which prevents sagging

The manufacturers of small grain harvesters have added numerous improvements since last season which have simplified the machines and made them still more effective. Ball and roller bearings greatly lessen the draft. The use of the best steel frames makes a lighter and stronger outfit. One of the very newest machines is a combined header and binder, cutting a 12 foot swath. One man and four horses can operate it, and if conditions are favorable cut 35 to 40 acres of grain a day. If the grain for any reason is very short, the machine may be used as a header. It will harvest wheat, oats, rye, barley, flax, rice, timothy, clover, alfalfa, etc. The Carver machine has a strong competitor in the Continental Giant, which so combines the Continental steel header and the Giant harvester in one machine that it may be used for either purpose. It also cuts a 12 foot swath and is operated by four horses or oxen. The Wyckoff harvester is notable for a unique plan of elevating grain to a low platform at the driver's side, where it is bound and dropped to the carrier that discharges the bundles. This requires but little power, and as the machine is low adapts it to rough ground.

The Plano company of Chicago has a flywheel attached to its binder which gives a uniform motion, does away with the slipping of the main wheel and causes the whole machine to run lighter. The friction clutch reel enables the reel to turn either way upon striking a stone or limb. The McCormick machines are also in the line of improvement .-American Agriculturist.

It has been suggested that the hard winter wheat of the southwest is deteriorating annually by becoming softer, and that on this account it may be expedient to import new hard winter wheat seed from Russia.
